Library Notes

The New Year represents for some a redo, a new beginning. For the library it's a time to shed some old items while promoting new additions to our collection. At this time, we have duplicate copies of colorfully informative National Geographic volumes on the "freebie" table outside the library, looking for another interested home. Also in the hallway, we will be replacing our MLK book display with a variety of new books, looking to be borrowed, read returned, and shared with other interested readers. As always, we welcome and much appreciate the family encouragement of reading, a most vital element of our learning adventure.

No School

It was omitted from the calendar but there will be no school on FRIDAY, FEB. 24th. Teachers will be attending Religious Education Congress.
