Library Notes

With this week's communication, we travel from the more mundane to the most meaningful. With the former, we once again remind borrowers to return their overdue books. And, as always, we are grateful for the ongoing parental support with such requests. With the latter, we wish to express our gratitude for the support that Principal Pawlak has provided to this volunteer over my decade long presence, enabling me to champion the development of a Library that, tries to serve our students' reading interests.
