Library Notes

With this missive, as we move toward our school year's end, we will be more of a "johnny-one-note." We just want to get all borrowed books back while still in session. While Library resources remain available until term's end, books may only be checked out for ONE week instead of the usual two, facilitating their return. Hopefully, with family aid, we will have received all books out on loan before our summer break begins.
